Nearly Fifteen Hundred
Union Men March
Through City to Shooting Park

LABOR DAY PROGRAM OPENS

Indoor Baseball Game Will Feature Big Celebration;
Band Concert at the Park

Nearly fifteen hundred union men assembled at the Market Square between 8 and 9 o'clock this morning to participate in the Labor Day parade. At 9:30 the parade formation was complete and under the direction of the marshals of the day, the procession, consisting of nearly forty local unions, started on its march through the business section of the city, arriving at Shooting Park at 10:30. Practically every business house in the city was closed in observance of the annual holiday of organized labor.

With a platoon of police, heading the parade, followed by a band, the hundreds of union men filed out of the Market square, with some mark of distinction, characteristic to the work of the particular union, conspicuous in the ranks of each. Thousands of La Crosse persons, friends and relatives of the many union men, lined the streets on all the principal thoroughfares of the city, as the parade passed, waving their handkerchiefs and giving other demonstrations of their sympathy with organized labor to their many acquaintances in the procession.

The line of march followed:
North on Fourth to Pearl, west on Pearl to Front, north on Front to Main, east on Main to Seventh, south on Seventh to Cass, east on Cass to Eighth, south on Eighth to Shooting Park. The parade will counter march on Eighth street.

Owing to the approach of the national election and wishing to avoid political affiliation, the committee has decided to abandon the usual address. A dance at Linker's hall in the evening will close the day's celebration.

The order of formation of the parade was as follows:

First division: Platoon of police, hand, carriages for committees, brick layers and stone masons, mouldeers, shoe repairers, stage employees, beer bottlers, cooper, teamsters, barbers, retail clerks, button workers, Street and Electric Railway Co. employees, machinists, carpenters No. 1143, railway clerks, tailors. Second division: Band, horseshoers and blacksmiths, sheet metal workers, electrical workers, painters, cigar workers, brewery workers, printers, plumbers, car workers, hod carriers, musicians, plasterers, bartenders and meat cutters.

Arriving at Shooting park, the two bands merged and rendered a band concert. Refreshments were served to hundreds of unionists and their friends on the grounds at noon, following which the program was started. The program of the day follows:

Indoor baseball game, Printers vs. Beer Bottlers.

Tug of war, Printers vs. Electricians.

Presidents' race, 100 yard dash.

Boys' race, 8 to 12 years.

Girls' race, 8 to 12 years.

Far Man's race, 200 pounds or over to qualify.

Three-legged race.

100 yard dash, free for all.

Marble race.

A band concert will be held at the grounds during the entire day. Refreshments will be served.

Address at Tomah Today; Confident of Nomination

After a thorough canvass of Vernon and Monroe counties, Congressman John J. Esch returned to La Crosse Saturday evening full of confidence that he will be the republican nominee for congress at the primaries tomorrow. Mr. Esch spent this morning directing the last efforts of his campaign committee and receiving reports from different parts of the district. He will deliver a Labor day speech at Tomah this afternoon and will close his campaign in the district in Sparta tonight.

Mr. Esch will speak on "The attitude of the government toward labor" at the meeting at Tomah this afternoon and will dwell particularly on the intent and purpose of the federal industrial commission which is proposed in a bill now before congress. Congressman Esch assisted in the framing of the industrial commission bill and is confident that it will pass at the next session of congress and will prove of great benefit to labor.

Congressman Esch will receive election returns at his home in La Crosse tomorrow evening.

OWEN ANSWERS LEHNER CHARGE

Denies His Vote on Express
Bill Was Against Best Interests of the People

FOLLOWED BOARD'S ADVICE

Senator's Secretary Says
Vote Was on the Representation of Railway Commission

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 2.—Charging unfairness and deliberate misrepresentation of Senator W. C. Owen's record in the interest of the candidacy of his opponent, Phillip Lehner, the Senator's campaign secretary, Walter Drew, gave out this statement:

"It has just come to my attention that H. B. Patch, of Oshkosh, Lehner's campaign manager, is sending out over his signature to the newspapers of the state and asking them to reprint an editorial, credited to the Omro Herald, in which Senator Owen is attacked, not directly, but by insinuation and innuendo, for his opposition to the Hurlbut express bill in the last legislature. It is said in the editorial that the Hurlbut bill provided for a forty per cent reduction in express rates; that it passed the Assembly 'without a dissenting vote,' and that on each roll call in the Senate Senator Owen voted against the bill, and, further, that 'Senator Owen worked and voted to kill this bill, which would have relieved the people from a heavy burden.' The names of Senators Browne, Krumrey and Donald are mentioned among those who voted for the bill.

Intended to Injure
"The obvious suggestion of this editorial and the manifest purpose of Mr. Lehner's manager in circulating it and asking newspapers to republish it is to injure Senator Owen's candidacy by creating the false impression that in voting this bill Senator Owen voted against the public interest.

"As an attorney who prosecuted the express rate case before the railroad commission, I devoted some time to a study of the express rate situation. It is the accepted and correct progressive principle in the regulation of rates of public service corporations that all such regulations should, not merely in the interest of fairness but in the interest of effective regulation, be preceded by competent investigation.

"The Omro Herald has been misinformed and it has misinformed the public and any paper which has published this editorial has misinformed the public. In saying that the passage of the Hurlbut bill 'would have relieved the people from a heavy burden,' two years of investigation of express revenues, operating expenses and operating statistics by the Railroad Commission shows very clearly that a reduction of forty per cent, or approximately forty per cent, in express rates in this state could never be sustained in court. At the time the Hurlbut bill was pending in the legislature, the Railroad Commission was engaged upon an exhaustive investigation of the subject with a view to ordering such reductions and readjustments of express rates as would make the rates just and reasonable. Had the Hurlbut bill become a law, the express companies were prepared to have it enjoined 'at once' in the Federal court, and the only result would have been to tie up indefinitely any attempt at express rate regulation in this state.

"The editorial says the bill was passed in the Assembly without a dissenting vote. It was passed there without even a roll call, and without any particular consideration.

"When it reached the Senate, Senator Owen and other Senators, as I am informed, inquired of the Railroad Commission as to the merits of the bill and when they learned that its real effect would be they opposed it in the Senate, and it was beaten in the Senate by a vote of 15 to 16. Among the 16 were the following Progressive Republicans: Bishop, Blaine, Bodensht, Bosshard, Killeen, Kieczka, Martin, Owen, Sanborn, Scott, Tisdale, True and Weigle.

"Afterwards, it was attempted to suspend the rules and reconsider the bill, and among those who voted against this motion were Senators Burke and Krumrey, who had previously voted for the bill. It appears, therefore, that a large majority of the Progressive Republicans voted against his bill. I know that the Railroad Commission was opposed to it and I am informed that Governor McGovern refused Mr. Hurlbut's request to lend his influence in support of it.

"It is simply preposterous that Senator Owen's opposition to this bill should be peddled to the public, with the information that three Progressive Republicans supported it, in an effort to injure Senator Owen's candidacy. The pettiness of this attack will be better appreciated when it is known that every Progressive Republican Senator who voted against Senator Owen on this bill is supporting his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Attorney General, and in fact every Progressive Republican member of the Senate, with possibly one exception, favors his nomination."

BULLET ENDS LIFE OF GEORGE ERBST

Young Man Dies by Own
Hand in the Presence of His Mother

DIES ALMOST INSTANTLY

Funeral to Be Held at the Residence, 1006 South
Fourth Street,
Wednesday

Taking a thirty-eight calibre revolver from the hands of his mother upon the pretext that he was about to sell it, George Erbst, of 1006 South Fourth street, turned and sent a bullet through his heart last evening. He fell to the floor and died almost instantly. His parents today declare that they believe his act was caused by temporary derangement due to the heat.

Erbst who was 28 years old, went home from the bottling department of the Heileman Brewing company where he was employed, at 12:30 yesterday noon and complained of a pain in his heart. He refused to eat dinner and left home at 1:30. Returning at 5:15 yesterday afternoon he asked his mother for a revolver which he had purchased a few weeks ago, saying that he was going to sell it.

His mother, seeing that he was not feeling well, tried to persuade him to remain at home but he persisted and she finally took the revolver from a drawer which was locked and handed it to him. As she turned to relock the drawer, she heard a shot and turning about saw her son lying on the floor with a stream of blood flowing from his chest. Without uttering a word, he died a moment later. When examined by Dr. A. L. Allen, it was found that the bullet had entered the center of the heart.

According to the story told by his mother this morning, her son upon reaching home, asked her for $2. Mrs. Erbst, not having the money in change offered him a $5 bill which he refused to take. He then asked for the revolver.

George Erbst is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Erbst, 1006 South Fourth street, three sisters, Mrs. George Olson of Minneapolis, Mrs. McKillip, of La Crosse and Miss Mildred Erbst of La Crosse and two brothers, John and William, both of this city.

The funeral services will be held at the residence at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Andreas will officiate and burial will be made at the Oak Grove cemetery.

Judge Kleeber after viewing the body today, declared that death was due to suicide.

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF DESERTING WIFE

Edward Lee, Tenth and Mississippi streets, was arrested late Saturday afternoon on a charge of wife desertion. Lee is alleged to have deserted his wife last May and has not been seen in La Crosse during the intervening time. A fight near Grand Crossing Saturday evening resulted in the arrest of Harry Lewis, Trenton, Mo., and Fred Brennan, Indianapolis. Fred Lee, alleged to have committed a double assault upon Fred Romanowsky, a drayman, spnt Sunday in jail and will probably be arraigned upon that charge tomorrow.

12,000 MARCH IN BOSTON

Motormen and Conductors
Who Won Recent Strike, Have Place
of Honor

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—The melodious merry-go-round piano took the place of the factory whistle with Chicago laboring men today and the lunch basket was substituted for the dinner pail in homes of thousands of workmen. There was little doing in the work line, but there was plenty of recreation.

The annual labor parade, which up to two years ago featured the celebration of Labor day in Chicago, was omitted by the unanimous consent of members of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and for the most part the bread winners spent the day quietly with their families. Several of the unions held picnics in various amusement parks, but there was less even of this than formerly and the individual celebration was almost uniformly the rule.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 2.—Thirty thousand unionists, thirty bands of music, twenty floats and plenty of interest and enthusiasm combined to make today's Labor day parade the greatest in the city's history. Marching clubs of women and girls were a feature. In other years the women rode.

BOSTON, Sept. 2.—Twelve thousand members of union labor throughout Greater Boston paraded today before 20,000 spectators who crowded the line of march despite dreary skies, with occasional drizzles of rain and a temperature of 56. The 3,000 motormen and conductors of the Boston elevated who recently won their strike for more pay held the honor place in the marching line.

ALLEGED SLAYER ESCAPES TOMBS

Man Indicted for Two Murders Sneaks Out of Gotham's Best
Jail

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Indicted for two murders and suspected of a third, foiled in a bold attempt to escape from his cell only five days ago when acid and saws were taken from him, Reynolds Fosbrey eluded a special guard supposed to be watching him in his isolated cell in the Tombs today and escaped. All he used to get out this time were his iron nerve, a step-ladder, a bar and some muscle.

Last night there was a bad storm with plenty of thunder and lightning. The trusty says he went to sleep. Some time after 1 a. m. Fosbrey got up. He yanked an iron ventilator out by main force, climbed through a window and dropped into the jail carpenter shop. He got a step ladder and an iron crowbar. He used the bar to twist the iron across the window. He took the ladder with him.

Archbold and Pennsylvanian Talk from Third Hand, Says Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Denying the every allegation of John D. Archbold and Senator Boies Penrose that he sought or was cognizant of contributions by the Standard Oil company to his campaign in 1904, branding Penrose as unfit to hold a seat in the United States senate, and reviewing in detail his part in all matters connected with the controversy raised by the accusations of Penrose and Archbold, Col. Roosevelt last night made public his letter to Senator Clapp, chairman of the committee investigating campaign contributions.

The letter which bears the date of August 28, was written after the senate committee declined to have the colonel appear before it last Monday as he requested.

The statements of Archbold and Penrose, Mr. Roosevelt brands as "injurious gossip at third hand, instead of merely at second hand."

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 2.—Declaring Roosevelt had exonerated himself of any possible blame in the matter of the $125,000 contribution by Standard Oil to the 1904 campaign, Frank A. Munsey's Boston paper today says evidentially:

"Archbold's evidence reveals him in the most brutal light as regards the welfare of the nation. He was using money to bribe, if possible, the government of the United States."

PACKET SEASON TO CLOSE EARLY

Several of the largest packet lines operating between here and St. Louis are complaining of the government order to suspend traffic September 15 owing to the work on the Keokuk dam. Representatives of the companies declare that this order will shorten the season by six weeks and as this is one of the best seasons in years, will result in a heavy loss to the companies. The Keokuk dam, however can not be completed unless traffic is suspended at that point.

HANSON FUNERAL SUNDAY.

Many friends and relatives attended the funeral of Mrs. Emma Hanson, which was held from the residence, 17 South Nineteenth street, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with Rev. W. P. SHAWANO, Wis., Sept. 2.—Seven men were killed and twenty-five injured, several fatally, when the Northwestern railroad's Chicago and Ashland limited train was wrecked between Bowler and Lyndhurst, nine miles west of Shawano, early Sunday morning.

Hits Washout
The train was speeding southeast, and ran into a washout between Bowler and Lyndhurst shortly after 2:30 o'clock.

The engine was thrown to one side, the smoker was thrown fifty feet to the right and a Pullman sleeper occupied by women was thrown thirty feet to the left, injuring all of those in the car. The baggage car, which was immediately in the rear of the engine, was telescoped, pinning four of those killed under the wreckage. The roof of the baggage car was ripped off and thrown fifty feet.

Three Sleepers Derailed
The first, second and third sleepers were derailed, but the four coaches following remained on the tracks.

Among the more seriously injured were several members of the Wausau baseball team of the Wisconsin-Illinois league. William Kerwin, formerly of the Chicago Cubs pitching staff, probably will never pitch again. His skull was fractured and he was taken to Chicago in a serious condition. Glenn Davey, shortstop, likely will lose his arm.

CUBS' BACKSTOP HURT IN GAME

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Jimmy Archer, premier Cub backstop, did not go to Pittsburgh with his team mates today, and there was gloom in the Cub camp as the result of the injury the catcher sustained in the final frame of yesterday's wind-up with the Cardinals.

Chance gave Jimmy a rest yesterday and he did not figure in the game until the final inning when he was sent in to bat for Reulbach. He hit a hot grounder to Mowry and turned to run down to first, but in swinging at the pill he tore loose the muscles in his left knee, which was injured during the early games of the season.

FIVE OTHERS ARE INJURED

Passengers Nearly Drowned in Partially Submerged Coaches;
Heavy Rain Cause

The killed:
G. I. Thompson, engineer.
Fireman Abraham.
Probably Fred E. Strappan.
412 East North Avenue, Milwaukee.
The injured:
Conductor Lyons.
Baggageman (unknown).

Three were instantly killed, one-half mile north of Hustler, Wis., at 5 o'clock this morning when passenger train No. 10 on the Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Omaha railroad was precipitated into a river. As the engine reached the center of the bridge, the supports gave way, the engine crashed to the bottom of the river and a baggage car and two passenger cars followed, killing the engineer, fireman and a man riding the blinds and seriously injuring two others.

Many were injured in the wild panic of the passengers in an attempt to climb through the windows to avoid drowning in the partially submerged coaches. A wrecking crew which was hurried to the scene of the wreck from Hustler aided in hauling the passengers from the submerged coaches.

As soon as the cars landed at the bottom, a wild rush was made for the windows and doors, by the passengers, to avoid drowning in the rapidly filling coaches and many were shaken up, bruised and cut by glass. By 6:30 all of the passengers had been removed from the wreck and cared for by physicians who had been rushed to the scene.

Letters were found upon the body of a man who had been riding the blind baggage, bearing the following: Fred E. Strappan, 412 East North Avenue, Milwaukee, but it is not known whether it was his own name or not.

All traffic on the La Crosse division of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad was placed at a standstill this morning, owing to the washout of a bridge between Camp Douglas and New Lisbon. Passenger train No. 55 was stranded on the east side of the bridge but the mail was transferred and a substitute train made up here to complete the run to Minneapolis. A large wrecking crew was sent to the scene of the accident.

ATHLETES SWAMP CHAMPS 10 TO 0

Clothiers Are Handed Coat of Whitewash in the First Clash for the Title

ANDERSON IS INVINCIBLE

Athletes' Pitcher Allows His Opponents Five Hits; Bartels Is Driven from Slab

Bunched hits in the seventh inning when they clouted out six hits for ten runs gave the Athletes an easy victory over the La Crosse Clothing company baseball club at League park yesterday afternoon in the first combat for the city championship, the Athletes winning by the one-sided score of 10 to 0. The Athletes rallied in no uncertain manner in the seventh round and before they could be stopped the pan had been crossed ten times and Bartels who had been doing the twirling for the Clothiers, had been knocked from the slab.

Up to the seventh inning neither team had been able to tally and there had been few chances to dent the platter so effective were Anderson and Bartels. However, the Athletes concentrated their batting in the seventh inning when they solved Bartels' curves for fair and the "city champs" and the "dictators" were humbled by the team that had to "go out and get a reputation before they could play them."

For the first six innings the game was airtight and up to the seventh but one bingle had been made on each twirler. Bartels and Anderson were both pitching in great form and they were backed up by some great support which several times cut off what looked like sure base hits. Kircheis and Hackner both made stops which spoiled hits while Hackner ran way over to the foul line to pinch a fly which looked good for a hit. Falk came to Bartels' rescue in the second when he started a double play when it seemed certain that the Athletes would score. With Hackner on second and one out, Kabat lifted a long fly to right field. Falk pinched the ball and shot it on a line to third just in time to catch Hackner as he was sliding into third.

Anderson's twirling was one of the features of the day as he had the Clothiers guessing all the time and they could not connect with his speed and curves which he mixed up well. The Clothiers couldn't hit the ball hard when they did find him and he set down nine of them on strikes during the afternoon. He kept up his effective work throughout the game and finished as strong as he began. In addition to this he slammed out a double in the seventh which scored one man and he scored a moment later himself. In the third round he gave a great exhibition of pitching for in that inning wild throws by Hackner and Walters allowed Falk, first man up, to reach third base. In this situation he tightened up and made Satek hit to Hackner and Falk was held on third. Griffin sent a grounder to Kircheis and Falk was caught at the pan after which Ulrich fouled out. This was practically the only chance the Clothiers had to count except in the ninth when Heyer was pinched at the plate for the last out of the day.

Bartels also pitched in good form up to the seventh although he was not as much of a puzzle as Anderson. He allowed but one hit until the big rally when his curves were hit hard and Chalsma was called to the rescue with but one out.

Neither was first up for the Athletes in the seventh and he smashed a grounder at Satek which was too hot to handle. Hackner bunted to Bartels whose throw to second forced Neiter but Ulrich dropped the ball and the runner was safe. When Gulkickson bunted toward first Satek held the ball and the bases were full with none out. In this pinch Kabat came to bat and he made good with a long swat to left field for two gabs emptying the bases. Kabat worked the delayed steal and pilfered third from where he registered on Childers' single to center. After Walters flew out to Solie, Childers stole second and Anderson kept up the rally by clouting out a double to left scoring the backstop. Chalsma was sent in to relieve Bartels and Kuehn beat out a punt to him sending Anderson to third while he stole second a moment later. Kircheis hit to Satek who threw to the pan but Anderson turned back and the bases were full. Neither, up for the second time, was passed, forcing Anderson across the pan, and when Griffin let one of Chalsma's curves get past him Kuehn also registered. Hackner hit to Solie and when Satek dropped his throw Kircheis scored. Hackner stole second because Griffin's aim was bad, the ball going to center field, and Hackner took third while Neiter counted. Hackner crossed the plate on Gulkickson's out and Kabat ended the fun with a fly to Ulrich. Score:

NATIONAL LEAGUE
St. Louis 5; Chicago 3
CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—The Cubs lost the last game of the series to the Cardinals, 5 to 3. The result left the Cubs five games behind in the pennant race and also materially affected their chances for the flag, as Jimmy Archer again badly wrenched his weak knee and probably will be out of the game for the remainder of the season. The Cubs used three pitchers and four pinch hitters in a desperate effort to win the game. Harmon, however, held the locals to seven hits and kept them well scattered. ## DON'T NEGLECT CATARRH

Even in its early stages Catarrh is a most distressing complaint, known by its symptoms of stuffy feeling in the head and nose, roaring in the ears, mucus in the throat, difficult breathing, etc. When the blood becomes thoroughly polluted with catarrhal matter the inflammation extends to the bronchial tubes, causing hoarseness and often an aggravating cough, the stomach is affected, resulting in dyspepsia, loss of appetite, and gradually all the mucous membranes of the body become diseased. Catarrh is a deep-seated blood disease and must be treated constitutionally; it is beyond the reach of local treatment. Only temporary relief can ever be had from the use of sprays, washes, etc. S. S. S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all impure catarrhal matter and at the same time building up the entire system. It goes down into the circulation and removes all impurities. Then as pure, nourishing blood circulates through the body, the inflamed membranes heal, all discharges cease and every symptom of Catarrh passes away. Don't neglect Catarrh; cure it with S. S. S. as thousands have done. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free.

WAS ACCOMPLISHED

H. L. Starr has returned from a trip down the river. At Genoa he met Mr. Gillette, a prominent fisherman for the trade, who informed him that the state fish crews are working at Genoa and vicinity, and that they are religiously returning all fish taken from landlocked waters to the Mississippi. This is the direct result of the campaign made by sportsmen through The Tribune to preserve game fish on the Mississippi.

Reports recently received indicate that the steamer Curlew is again violating the state permit under which it operates. It would be unjust to accept these reports as true without further investigation, but it is equally true that investigation should be made.

A new permit granted the federal bureau by the state fish commission reads as follows:

"To Whom it May Concern:

"This will permit Colonel W. B. Goran, Steamer Curlew of the U. S. bureau of fisheries, to catch such fish as he may deem necessary, with nets, from the waters of the Mississippi river adjacent to Wisconsin. All fish so caught are to be returned to the waters alive after the bureau of fisheries, through its agents, have made use of said fish in their experiments covering the propagation of pearly mussels of clams.

"This permit expires December 1, 1912. (Signed) PRESIDENT ALVORD."

A request by the commission that State Game Warden Shotts send a deputy with the boat to watch the operations was refused because the deputy could not be spared in the busy season. Evidently the commission itself has misgivings about the

As she has since confessed.
Where she was fashion ruled the day
And everybody dressed.

Ma had a good time when she went
In battle line arrayed,
Long hours each day at bridge they spent
And everybody played.

And brother, he had quite a time,
He went where ripples swished,
Where wearing good clothes was a crime
And everybody fished.

But poor dad couldn't quit the grind
Or go where minnows lurked,
While others loafed he stayed behind
Where everybody worked.

This is Charged to Chicagoans
At a recent house party given at the country estate of Sir Edward Powell, just outside of London, at which many distinguished men of letters and persons high socially and in professional life were present, a certain social leader of Chicago had been invited in company with her husband.

The lady in question had come into her social position of late years due to her husband's good luck in cleaning up a fortune by cornering some commodity at a time when prices were high and the demand was large.

Her early life had not been wasted, as she had once put it, on tedious textbooks, though she posed in her home town as a critic and connoisseur of all that is best in modern literature and lent her name and subscribed freely to every movement on foot that had as its basis something connected with culture, thereby earning the reputation of being a patron of the arts and sciences.

The dinner had progressed favorably and the conversation turned toward literature, sculpture, art and kindred subjects, in which all but the lady in question took part.

Noticing her seeming discomfort, Sir Edward, to make her feel more at ease, asked her:

"Do you care for Botticelli, Mrs. Blank?"

"No," she answered, "to tell the truth, Sir Edward, I never did care much for those Italian wiles."

Her husband, noticing the subdued grins about the table, rushed to his wife's rescue and, leaning over, whispered the information:

"Botticelli, my dear, is not a wine; it's a cheese."—New York Sun.

Uncertain
"Have you purchased your new car yet, Mr. Noorich?" asked the visitor. "No, Mr. Smithers, I ain't. I can't make up my mind whether to get a gasoline car or a limousine car. Maybe you can tell me—does limousine smell as bad as gasoline?" Inquired the lady.—Harper's Weekly.

Distinction of Difference

A group of New Yorkers were lounging on the piazza of a shore hotel last Sunday when a young man, wearing exquisite clothes and a vacant stare, passed by on his way to the beach, with a young woman on either arm.

"You know who that is, I suppose?" remarked one of the party. "Oh, yes," was the reply. "Got a couple of millions, I understand. Just out of college. He was educated at Harvard university, was he not?"

"Oh, no," said the first speaker. "He wasn't educated at Harvard. He went to school there."

Evil of Smoking

Two serious-faced women on a North river ferry boat were discussing the evils of intemperance as they stood on the forward deck. From this they passed easily to condemnation of the tobacco habit—especially smoking by men in the presence of ladies. As the boat entered the slip a jovial-looking man who had been within hearing distance of the two women made bold to address one of them.

"Madame," said he, "I drink occasionally, but I do not smoke. I hold that smoking is more to be condemned than drinking. Don't you agree with me?"

"No, sir, I do not," was the frigid response. "Why is it worse?" "Because smoke is always dissipated, madame," said the jovial man as he disappeared toward the street.

The MAN in the BROWN DERBY

by WELLS HASTINGS

Author of THE PROFESSOR'S MYSTERY
Copyright, 1911 by Bobbs-Merrill Co.

Mr. Ogilby drew up a chair beside the bed, and divesting himself of duster, cap and glasses, sat down beside me.

"Well," he said, "you did have a beautiful time, and wounded, scalded and all, I envy you. You must tell me all about it some day; for I am closely interested, and, as I told you before, adventures at my time of life must of necessity be for the most part vicarious. It may interest you to know, though, that I have given up my tenement room; even there I found my seclusion almost too monastic. It is right after all that a man should take his place in the world and now, thanks to you, I am able to take it."

"To me?" I asked, in some surprise, with the recurrent doubt if he were, after all, perfectly right in his mind.

"Yes, to you," said Mr. Ogilby. "Well, my dear, I am glad that everything is going so well with you."

This last to Nancy; for she had come back alone into the room, and now stood gazing wide-eyed at the little man who had risen to greet her.

"You—you—" she faltered, "you are—"

"Quite so, my dear," said Mr. Ogilby. "Aren't you going to kiss me?"

To my utter surprise Nancy gave a little inarticulate cry, and flew into the arms outstretched to welcome her; where he held her fast, kissing her heartily and giving her little, affectionate pats as she sobbed happily upon his shoulder. Presently Nancy raised her head.

"Does Mason know?" she asked doubtfully, as if she herself was hardly sure. Then quietly, "Oh, we must be careful of him, for he isn't strong yet."

"No; Mason doesn't know," Mr. Ogilby chuckled, turning to me, but still keeping tight hold of Nancy's hand, "but I don't think it will hurt him to know. Your memory is not so good as mine, young man. Do you, by any chance, remember a fine, middle-aged gentleman, who sat next you on a bench in Washington Square, a gentleman who, I am ashamed to say, may have been dozing a little?"

"Yes," I said; "I knew I had seen you somewhere before; and you gave me a paper, the paper by which I first found Nancy."

"Quite so," said Mr. Ogilby dryly; "but I did not know about that 'Personal' notice then, even though that Lexington Avenue stable was my own. I had been reading another piece of news which was really very interesting. It was my own obituary. You may possibly have noticed it, Jared Bond, dead after five years of mild insanity. The notice omitted to state that I had a daughter Nancy."

"A daughter!" I gasped. "Yes, my son," the old gentleman said complacently. "I think you will find me a very companionable father-in-law."

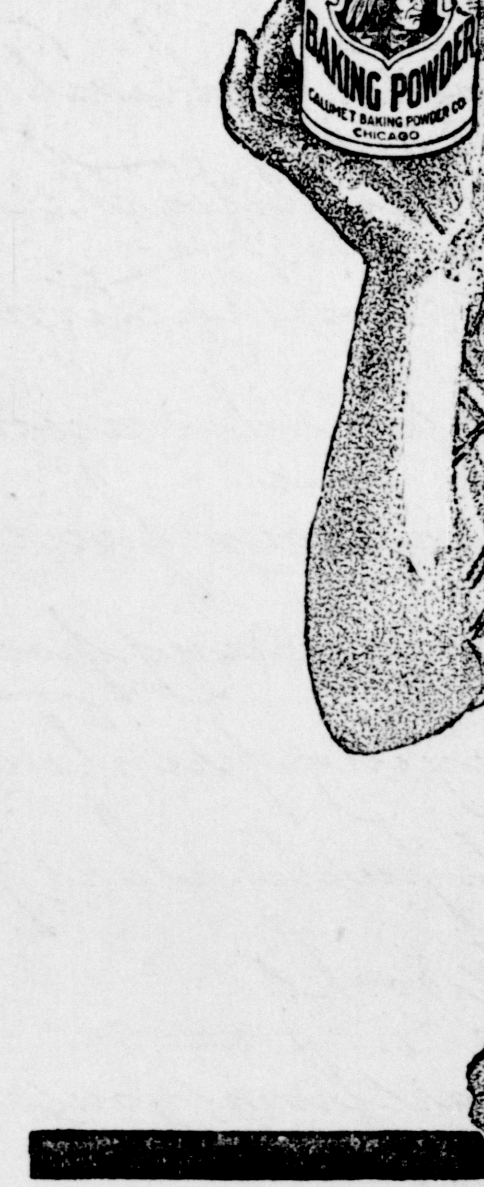

"But how—" Nancy and I commenced in a breath.

"Well," said Mr. Bond, sitting down again and drawing Nancy to his lap, "I have been bursting with it so long that I am going to tell you about it, doctor or no doctor. I am going on the natural assumption that you are pleased; and joy, they say, never hurt anybody." He chuckled again. "The mistake I made was in ever letting Ephraim into the house. Ephraim has always been rather unprincipled, but he was my own brother, and he was poor, while I had plenty of money; so that I thought it only right to do something for him. I am afraid, in those days, that I was a little weak-natured; for gradually Ephraim began to have too much to say in the conduct of my affairs, and then came a bad attack of grippe. When that was over I found myself a prisoner in my own room. My brother pretended, even before me, to think me mentally unbalanced; and there I stayed for five years, signing checks, and eating my heart out. I don't want to talk about that part of it; it makes me shudder to think of it. If I made any protest Ephraim kept me quiet with threats of what he would do to Nancy."

"I might have been there yet, for all I know, if it hadn't been for that rascally son of his. Under one of Ephraim's threats I signed a paper which I have since thought was my will, and, for a time, I lived in mortal terror lest my brother should make away with me altogether. Then, by great fortune, he was called away for a day or so, and his son, who was always hard up, came in to see me.

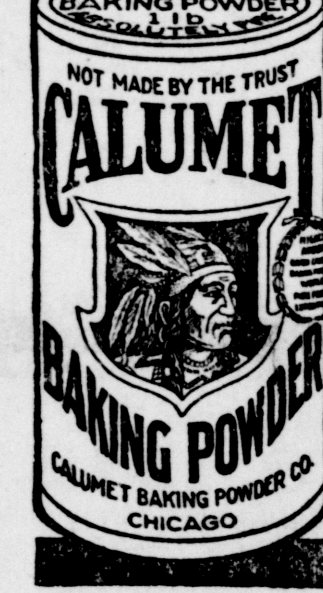

"Ersine needed a good deal of money, and he needed it right away; so that I was able to make terms with him. He had come prepared, with a fountain-pen and a check-book, but this was my opportunity, and for once I stood fast, deaf to any threat that he might make. I agreed to let him have twice the amount he wanted on one condition, and one condition only. My condition, naturally, was my freedom. He was afraid to do it at first, so sorely as he needed the money, but desperation and his natural criminal bent finally suggested a way that was satisfactory and fairly safe for both of us.

"He had at one time half completed a course in some medical college and still retained one or two

ROUGH WITH SUICIDE

FRANKFORTH, Germany, Sept. 2.—Karl Koetscher, a peasant residing at Gratz has had the unique experience of being arrested and tried for handling a would-be suicide too roughly. Going home one day he saw a man hanging from a tree and promptly cut him down.

The suicide, not quite dead, fell and cut his head on a stone, and the doctor who attended him, suspecting foul play, gave Koetscher into custody. He was charged with causing the suicide grievous bodily harm. His defense that it was an accident was accepted and he was solemnly acquitted and released.

TO TRY ALCHEMIST

PARIS, Sept. 2.—Hippolyte Dousson, alias Dr. Alphonse Joubert, who claims he has found how to change lead into silver, will shortly be tried in the criminal court of Paris.

The man, who is out of prison on bond, has demanded that the government furnish him with a laboratory so he can prove his contention. A Belgian named Van Den Hend is the plaintiff. He says Joubert produced before Van Den Hend's own eyes 40 grams of silver from 100 grams of lead and Van Den Hend advanced him $3,000.

The charge against Dousson, or Joubert, is swindling.

Flowers Quickly Wilted
The case had been concluded and the attorney who had defended a man on a charge of assault rose to make his final address to the jury which was to decide his client's fate. He was a flowery talker and his argument had something like this:

"It was a beautiful evening. All nature was smiling at rest. The birds twittered their farewell to the sun, knowing that the moon would soon be up. And just at this time, gentlemen of the jury, in this peaceful environment, the prosecuting witness came out from behind a billboard and called my client a liar."

The jurors laughed and convicted. —Kansas City Journal.

WON'T WORK CHARON

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 2.—Owing to a boycott on the steamship "Charon" by the dockers on Greek ports, the Royal Netherlands Steamship company has been compelled to change its name. The men refused to work the ship on account of its association with the mythological old gentleman, who plies the ferry across the river of the lower world. The ship has been named Jason.

EGG CONTEST ON

The contest which has been organized by the Utility Poultry club, will be pulled off at Newport, Shropshire, Eng., and valuable prizes and medals are offered. Points will be given for numbers and weight of eggs and hens are warned that anything under 1½ ounces will not be counted.

YOUR HAIR IS FLUFFY, BEAUTIFUL AND LUSTROUS IN A FEW MOMENTS

Girls! Get a 25 cent bottle of "Danderine" and try this. Also stops falling hair; destroys dandruff.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine" hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

NEW SET OF FEET GIVEN TO CHILD

Clubbed Foot Lad will Soon
Be Able to Run About
Like Other
Boys

WATERBURY, Conn., Sept. 2.—The identity of the 2-year-old boy on whom the amazing operation of bone transplantation for the permanent curing of club feet was successfully performed by Dr. Frederick H. Albee, a young surgeon of the Post-Graduate hospital of New York, became known when small Frederick Scorpion returned to his home. The child was shown delightedly to relatives and friends by his parents. The little fellow displayed two perfectly formed instead of twisted feet. Without prompting he scrambled into an upright position and tried to walk.

The young surgeon took bones from the bodies of two healthy children who had died suddenly by strangulation, kept them in cold storage, reshaped them to fit the bones which were deficient in the naturally crippled feet of the little boy, inserted these bones, kept the tiny feet in plaster casts for a week and then knocked the plaster off and revealed to the admiration of other surgeons and the joy of the child's parents the little fellow's feet, reshaped to the perfectly normal.

It appears that the Scorpion family have a double cause of gratitude for the young surgeon's skill, for not only was their baby son, Freddie, born with deformed feet, but so also was their 7-year-old son, Anthony, Albert. The surgeon's work in this case was equally notable and successful. In this case it had been necessary to break, shorten and practically reset the bones of both the lad's limbs to save him from being crippled for life. And this was done with such success that the lad walks without the sign of a limp and, indeed, can be found near his home any day twirling a ball as the pitcher of a very juvenile nine. The operation turned the lad from a pallid and sickly child into ruddy cheeked, robust youngster, and the same result is being observed in the case of tiny Freddie.

Dr. Albee had already attracted the attention of medical men by his remarkable operations in substituting bones from one section of the body to the spine, straightening hunchbacks.

DRYS URGED TO VOTE TOMORROW

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 2.—From the state prohibition headquarters in this city quantities of letters and printed matter urging the faithful to attend the primaries tomorrow are being sent out to encourage a big vote. Two years ago they got barely enough votes to name a state ticket, and lost out on two state nominees, but this year, owing to the amendment reducing the required percentage, the leaders feel sure of polling enough votes. They are much encouraged by the primary returns from Michigan, where the "drys" equalled the Bull Moose primary vote. A special appeal is also being made by State Chairman J. B. Smith for the election of party committeemen at the coming primaries.

To strengthen the party's propaganda work, the state chairman recently acquired a printing plant, where a new party organ, "The Partisan," will be issued. The speaking plans for the campaign will involve auto trips, special meetings and extended itineraries by the "dry" orators. Charles E. Newlin of Indiana is in the state for several engagements. Chairman Smith will also take the field, addressing special rallies and exhorting the fighting forces to renewed zeal.

FARMERS SAVINGS GROW

ST. PAUL, Sept. 2.—Officials of the state banks of Minnesota will be kept busy this fall finding profitable investments for the large increase in deposits expected as the result of the crops this year. Comparison of the records of the state bank examiner in St. Paul indicates there will be $15,000,000 more on deposit this fall than there was in June. The total amount then entrusted to the state banks was $123,000,000.

The crops this year are estimated by state officials to be practically one quarter larger than they were a year ago.

HORSEMEAT RISES

PARIS, Sept. 2.—The price of horseflesh has risen so high that the butchers have decided to petition the Chamber of Deputies to lower the tariff on it. The supply is dwindling and the demand is increasing, the butchers say, and a lower tariff is the only way out of the dilemma.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you uohave heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

VILLAGE WRECKED BY A CLOUDBURST

Town of 800 Wiped Out and from Fifteen to Twenty Killed at Colliers, W. Va.

COMMUNICATION IS CUT OFF

Wheeling Is Warned to Be on Lookout for Bodies Floating Down the Ohio River

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 2.—Colliers, W. Va., a town of probably 800, was almost completely destroyed by a cloudburst early this morning and from fifteen to twenty have been drowned. It is known that fifteen have lost their lives and the only communication with the town so far this morning says the death rate may be doubled.

At 9 o'clock this morning eight bodies had been recovered at the flood of Colliers, W. Va. Many more are believed to be dead. At Wheeling the Ohio river is running full of debris and according to a local telephone employee, orders have been received here to watch for dead bodies.

Worst Since Johnstown
Details of the devastation are coming in slowly but they show that it is the worst storm western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia has had since the Johnstown flood.

The loss to the Pan Handle Railroad company will reach half a million dollars or more and it will be at least a week before the railroad can run trains over the main line.

At Colliers at least fifteen and possibly twenty persons have been drowned but it will be late in the day before details can be secured.

NOTHING WORSE SAYS HAYWOOD

Industrial Workers Leader Says Lawrence Conspiracy Was Worst on Record

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 2.—"There have been few worse things transpire in the history of the world than this fighting of helpless women and children with dynamite," declared William D. Haywood, organizer for the Industrial Workers of the World, just before leaving here for Philadelphia.

"The indictment of William M. Wood, the wool manufacturing magnate," said Haywood, "is no surprise to me. While the work of planting the dynamite was done secretly, it was known among us that the thing had been pre-arranged long before the trap was set for us."

"That was shown when Breen, accused of planting the dynamite, was let off with a nominal fine of $500 and still retained his place as school inspector. The fine hand of some strong interest was shown in the slight punishment meted out to him."

"We had no hope that officials of the American Woolen company would be indicted for this offense. We knew and the world knew pretty generally, that the dynamite had been placed in the shoemaker shop next to the Italian newspaper and in the Syrian clothing shop to cast discredit on the union and we knew who caused the dynamite to be planted there. Things have turned out better than we hoped."

"It was the worst case on record, this fighting of women and children with dynamite. Practically 70 per cent of the persons on strike were women and children. This inhuman warfare on helpless ones undoubtedly was the worst thing that ever transpired. Although no one was killed, the spirit of the thing deserves the condemnation of all right-thinking people."

Mrs. Britton's men's club of St. Louis contributed to the Giants' pennant collection by drubbing the Chicago Cubs. Five games now separate the National League.

The Reds thumped the Pirates unmercifully, winning both games. Pittsburgh's 17 hits in the second contest were ineffective. The Reds' 13 brought better results in the box score.

DON'T PULL OUT THE GRAY HAIR

A Few Applications of a Simple Remedy Will Bring Back the Natural Color

"Pull out one gray hair and a dozen will take its place" is an old saying, which is, to a great extent, true, if no steps are taken to stop the cause. When gray hairs appear it is a sign that Nature needs assistance. It is Nature's call for help. Gray hair, dull, lifeless hair, or hair that is falling out, is not necessarily a sign of advancing age, for there are thousands of elderly people with perfect heads of hair without a single streak of gray.

When gray hairs come, or when the hair seems to be lifeless or dead, some good, reliable hair-restoring treatment should be resorted to at once. Specialists say that one of the best preparations to use is the old fashioned "sage tea" which our grandparents used. The best prepared, balanced and tested by experts, Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of domestic sage and sulphur, scientifically compounded with later discovered hair tonics and stimulants, the whole mixture being carefully balanced and tested by experts.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It refreshes dry, parched hair, removes dandruff and gradually restores faded or gray hair to its natural color.

Don't delay another minute. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur at once and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in your hair.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

GLIDDEN TOUR ENTRIES MANY

1912 Reliability Run Will Start from Detroit and End at New Orleans

Entries are going to be numerous for the 1912 National Reliability tour of the American Automobile association, much known as the "Glidden," which will start from Detroit, Mich., during the second week of October, and will run through Adrian, Ft. Wayne, Muncie, Anderson, and Indianapolis to Louisville; thence from Louisville to Nashville, with two brief detours en route, one to visit the Lincoln farm near Hodgenville, and the other to the Mammoth Cave.

From Nashville the route will go down through Columbia, Tenn., to Florence, Sheffield and Tusculum, Ala., where a turn west will be made to the Mississippi river at Memphis. The tour will then go nearly directly south to Jackson, Miss., thence west to Vicksburg, and and either return to Jackson or follow a southeasterly direction below Vicksburg, entering the main line at a point below Jackson. Its final course will be from Baton Rouge to New Orleans.

The A. A. A. national tour is always the leading event of its kind in the automobile world, and this year should be greater than any of the previous ones. It will be, in effect, a "Lakes-to-Gulf-Tour"; and beside traversing interesting sections of Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana, will open up a thorough line between the north and the south that will be sure to attract a great deal of tourist travel. It will also be the greatest possible stimulant to good roads in the territory through which the tour travels.

Up to 1911, these tours were participated in largely by manufacturers, who competed with each other for the honor of winning the trophies. Beginning with 1911, however, the event became more an individual tour event, which will be particularly the case this year. Individual entries are welcome from all quarters, and entry blanks and all other information can be had promptly from A. A. A. Touring Bureau, 437 Fifth avenue, New York city.

The difference between a luxury and a necessity is much the same as that between a character and a reputation.

Every time a paper prints statistics it takes a lot of chances with the truth.

About the only way to get things coming our way is a long battle against their going the other way.

SCHOOL CHILDREN STATISTICS FALL

Number of Students in the Public Schools Shows Decreasing Percentage of Population

Are fewer children born? Do larger numbers die per million of population now than twenty years ago? Or is the average length of human life materially increasing?

These are questions suggested in the introduction of the statistical report of the United States Bureau of Education for 1911, following the statement that the percentage of the total population enrolled in the schools in 1910 was less than in 1900.

It is pointed out that important methods of gathering statistics account for a part of the loss, but on the other hand other authorities note that compulsory education laws and like social agencies are bringing a greater and greater proportion of children to the schoolhouse door. The introductory statement to the Education Bureau's document says in part:

Enrollment Falls Off

"There was an apparent decrease in the percentage of the total population enrolled in the schools as a whole from 22.54 in 1890 to 21.54 in 1910. The heavy loss may be given in numbers as 919,723. In other words, the grand total of school enrollment in 1910 would have been 20,731,645 if the percentage of 1890 had been maintained, in place of the 19,811,922 grand total."

"All this loss and more is suffered by the elementary schools, for the higher institutions made substantial gains and the secondary schools show marked increase in enrollment as compared with the total population."

"There is no reason for the belief that the schools have lost ground in reality. This comparison is with total population, not school population, and it is probable that there are relatively fewer children now than formerly."

"If there are not so many children proportionately, there will naturally be proportionately fewer pupils. Furthermore, it is well known that the constant improvement in statistical methods has resulted in the elimination to an increasing extent of duplicate enrollments. The decrease that results is apparent only and causes no concern."

Loss Made Up

In further support of this contention, figures are cited which show that had the apparent relative decrease of 919,723 in enrollment been real, the loss would have been more than made up in the increased efficiency of the common schools, for the per cent of average daily attendance increased from 68.61 in 1890 to 71.30 in 1910; the average length of school term increased from 134.7 days to 157.5 days between the same dates. At the same time the average number of days, schooling received by each child of school age increased from 59.2 in 1890 to 80.5 in 1910, while the average number of days attended by each pupil enrolled increased from 86.3 to 113.0 in 1910.

Our idea of a joke is a telegram of congratulation from a defeated candidate.

The more a woman scorns masculine selfishness in general the more she will indulge in her own man.

When a man has money to burn there is generally a woman to apply the torch.

In the physiology class we learned the alcohol would cook an egg, and since then we have met many who seem to approve that culinary method.

Lemons as Toilet Article.
Nearly every woman uses a lemon in her toilet preparations. For removing stains or freckles or bleaching a neck made yellow by high collars there is nothing better. Only a very little lemon is needed at one time. To keep a lemon from drying up and becoming useless place it under an ordinary glass tumbler on the toilet stand and it will not wither and dry out.

MANAGER

A wild pitching epidemic in both camps featured the White Sox-Tiger game. Five wild throws netted four runs. Walsh was charged with two and Dubuc with three. The game went ten rounds, however, before reaching a decision.

Errors at critical times gave the victory to the Browns over the Naps. Chapman's two errors in the sixth let in three runs and the decision.

The Senators and Athletics clash at Washington today with certain benefit to the Red Sox who now are confident of gaining the pennant.

RUSHFORD, MINN.

Hon. S. G. Iverson, state auditor and a former Rushford gentleman, met with a somewhat serious accident this week when the auto in which he was riding in company with several other gentlemen, was swerved into a ditch to escape collision with a motor bus and Mr. Iverson was thrown head long upon the ground, dislocating one shoulder.

The other occupants of the car, Mr. K. C. Chase, state superintendent of banks, Alex Jones, assistant attorney general and a son of Asa Wallace, assistant state fire marshal, were severely shaken up but sustained no serious injuries.

On Sunday, Aug. 11th, after the usual morning services at the Highland Prairie church, the congregation which had brought lunch baskets, adjourned to Overland's grove where, after dinner, their beloved pastor, Rev. N. S. Maggleson, was presented with a purse of $1,016 with which to purchase an auto.

Maggleson of La Crosse made the presentation speech. The long distance between the Oak Ridge and Elstad churches makes it necessary for the pastor to find some speedier and easier mode of transportation than that of horse and carriage and the question has been solved for him by his congregation in a highly satisfactory manner.

Rushford's schools will open next Monday, Sept. 2nd., under the efficient management of Supt. Craig of Iowa. Some changes will be made in the arrangements of the grades, the eighth grade being transferred to the northeast room on the first floor, its former quarters being fitted up for an extra assembly and recitation room. The manual training work will be carried on in the largest room in the basement, the former quarters being used as a chemical laboratory. A course in chemistry will be given as a junior elective study. Our schools are such that we are justly proud of them, holding a place second to none in this part of the state and we feel certain that the coming year's work will be commenced and continued with great enthusiasm keeping up the record that we have held in the past.

The Arendahl Creamery association is rapidly coming to the front as a progressive working order, as the returns for July point to that month as a record breaker, in the amount of cream brought in and butter made.

OPEN SEASON FOR DUCKS HAS COME

Sunday Was First Day that Shooting of Water Fowl Was Legal

PARTRIDGE SEASON SEPT. 10

Quail, Pheasant and Wild Swan Not Allowed to Be Shot at All

The hunting season for water fowl opened Sunday and closes January 1. No other game, except wild ducks, American coot or mudhens, rail and rice hens, can be hunted or killed on September 1.

The season for woodcock, partridge, plover or snipe, wild goose or brant, opens September 10. Prairie chicken or grouse of any variety may be shot from September 10 to October 1 in the following counties only: Ashland, Adams, Barron, Burnett, Buffalo, Brown, Bayfield, Chippewa, Clark, Crawford, Dodge, Dunn, Douglas, Grant, Eau Claire, Iowa, Jackson, Juneau, Lafayette, Marathon, Marinette, Marquette, Monroe, Oconto, Outagamie, Pepin, Polk, Pierce, Portage, Richland, Rusk, Sawyer, Shawano, St. Croix, Vernon, Washburn, Waushara, Waupaca and Wood.

Quail, pheasant and wild swan are protected in Wisconsin at all times.

Song Birds Protected
All kinds of song, harmless or wild birds and their nests and eggs are protected, except the English sparrow, the crow, the sharp-shinned and Cooper's hawks, owl and black birds and game birds in season.

It is unlawful to pursue or kill any aquatic fowl an hour before sunrise or one-half hour after sunset, or to use any boat or canoe for hunting aquatic fowl outside or beyond the natural covering of weeds, rushes or other vegetation growing above the water. But it is lawful to use a boat for hunting waterfowl within such natural covering or vegetation, which is propelled by paddle, oar, oars or pole.

It is unlawful for any person to use more than twenty-five decoys, or to set them more than 200 feet from natural covering. The same must be personally set and watched by the owner.

No rifle can be used for hunting or molesting aquatic fowl, except wild geese, and no artificial blind can be built in the open water.

It is unlawful to run or use a pointer or setter dog in fields frequented by game birds, between August 1 and September 10.

All guns, decoys, boats, dogs, etc., used in violation of the law may be seized and sold by the warden according to the law.

Big Limit
It is prohibited to kill or have in possession, or transport during any one day, more than five of any variety of grouse, prairie chicken, or woodcock; more than ten wild geese or brant or partridges; or more than fifteen wild ducks, including mudhen (coot), plover, snipe, rail and rice hens.

A resident hunter in possession of a hunting license may carry with him as baggage or express or in his personal possession the full limit of any one kind of game birds, or a mixed bag, containing not more than twenty of the game birds herein enumerated, the bag not to contain more than the limit fixed herein for any variety of said game birds; that is:

Killing is Limited

If a hunter kills fifteen mudhens he can not kill or have any ducks or snipe, etc., that day; but he may have five ducks, five mudhens, three rice hens, one rail and plover or snipe; fifteen in all. Besides his fifteen duck or mudhens, etc., he may have or transport five partridges, woodcock, prairie chicken or wild goose. Or if he shoots ten partridges he may shoot or transport ten ducks or snipe, etc., the same day, which makes a mixed bag of twenty.

A non-resident, who is in possession of a hunting license, which is $10 for small game, may take thirty game birds out of the state during the open season.

Game birds can not be sold or shipped, but must be accompanied by the owner on the same train, etc. The possession of any protected game birds by any person, who is not in possession of a hunting license is unlawful.

Game Birds Abundant
According to reports from sportsmen and deputies all over the state, the prospects for hunting game birds this fall are most promising. Especially partridges and prairie chickens are plentiful. This is due to our present good laws, which cuts down the bag and the season, and also due to the co-operation of the true sportsman with the game warden department.

U. S. NEXT TO ITALY WITH 84 DIOCESES

ROME, Sept. 2.—The United States now ranks next to Italy as a country in the world having the largest Catholic hierarchy. Following the recent creation in the United States of the two new dioceses, official figures from the Vatican show that, after Italy, which has 274 dioceses, the United States comes next with 84.

The same figures show that the entire Catholic world is now divided into 1,050 dioceses with residential bishops; with 236 minor organizations.

CAMP FIRE CLUB HELPS THE SEALS

Congress Passes Bills for the Protection of Fur Seals of Pribilof Islands

The Camp Fire Club of America, once designated by its president, the veteran, Dan Beard, as a "Society of Criminals for the Suppression of Crime," has won another uphill fight, the most bitterly opposed of any of its battles, for the preservation of wild life.

The fur seal treaty between the United States, Japan, Russia and England has been ratified, and in the closing days of the session Congress passed the bill providing for a close season of five years for the fur seal on Pribilof Islands.

Fought For Treasures

For both these measures the Camp Fire club, composed largely of big game hunters, fought almost single-handed, having practically no support from any other similar organization. They were opposed by Secretary Charles Nagle, of the Department of Commerce and Labor; George M. Bowers, Fish Commissioner; one Lemby and a board of experts, called in by the department, composed of Dr. Barton, W. Evermann, Dr. C. H. Townsend, Dr. F. A. Lucas, Dr. D. S. Jordan, Dr. Lemhard Stjenger, Dr. C. Hart Merriam and Dr. F. W. True.

The bill passed by the House contained no provision for the close season, but the Senate inserted a clause forbidding the killing of seals for ten years. These conference committees of the two houses united on a recommendation for the close period of five years. This was accepted by a unanimous vote in the Senate and the bill went to the president for his signature.

The action of the legislative branch of the government was in striking contrast to that of the departmental officials, who, by their advocacy of the continued killing of seals, found themselves aligned on the side of the purely commercial and selfish interests.

Dr. Henry W. Elliott, the best posted authority on the Pribilof seal; Dr. W. T. Hornaday, of the Camp Fire club, and other members of that organization, had presented the facts which Congress had presented as proof of the incalculable value of the close season as opposed to the practice of indiscriminate warfare waged on the fur seal ever since the purchase of Alaska by this government, the continuation of which Secretary Nagle and his experts fought for.

It was shown that the Russians, while in possession of the island, had by the same methods reduced the herds at one time to 31,000 head. The Russian government then established a close season of ten years, after which there was strict surveillance over, and cautious restrictions, of the killing of the fur seals.

The result of this policy was that when the United States came into possession of the islands the number of seals had increased to nearly 4,000,000. These have now, it is conservatively estimated, been reduced to a mere 125,000.

Dr. Hornaday believes that the end of the close season of five years the herd will have increased to well over 1,000,000, and that with proper restrictions as to killing thereafter the herd will continue to grow in numbers and its value as an income producer to the United States government will be greatly increased.

Having been so largely instrumental in saving the fur seals from entire destruction, the Camp Fire club has a very respectable list of achievements.

It was very active in opposing the bill permitting the sale of wild bird plumage in New York, and a bill authorizing the spring shooting of ducks on Long Island; in securing a $20,000 appropriation for the starving elk in Wyoming, and enlarging the Alberta game preserve, and in codifying the game laws of New York state, which are now a model, and in the campaign now in progress for the preservation of the Adirondack forests.

Backed Protection Law
All these accomplishments were included in two years' work by the club and its members.
